

Title	Project on Southeast Asia
College	Schoolcraft College
Duration	2019-2024

Objectives and Potential Impact:

The objective AND impact for this plan would be to advance the SCII's mission to coordinate cross-cultural learning opportunities for students, faculty, staff and the community AND to enhance the international content of coursework, programs, and other Schoolcraft College activities so participants better appreciate both the diversities and commonalities among world cultures, and better understand the global forces shaping people's lives. Moreover, the impact of this plan would include sustainable global curriculum changes to multiple disciplines and sections of courses involved with Amnesty International's Human Rights framework. Up to ten (and possibly more) faculty will be involved in creating curriculum connected to Amnesty International's platforms from the following disciplines: English (Helen Ditouras, Anna Maheshwari), History (Kimberly Lark, Steve Berg), Biology (Kristin Fruth), Sociology/Anthropology (Josselyn Moore, Sandy Roney-Hays), Philosophy (Mark Huston) and Psychology (Colleen Pilgrim).

In addition, to ensure that the project is robustly incorporated at the curriculum level, criteria used to internationalize courses in our Global Endorsement will be applied with the help of our existing partnership with the Midwest Institute (MIIE) summer workshop development and their university center partnerships with Michigan State University and University of Michigan. With the support of these educational networks, faculty will have to include up to 2 weeks-worth of content that engages with Amnesty International's Human Rights platform.
